DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1, 3-8, 10 and 11 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over either one of Canada 1 056 215, Rubenstein (US 3,182,611) or Hirschson (US 2,778,321). The prior art references disclose the claimed invention except for the control means which acts on a pivot whereon there is keyed a circular sector provided with two pivots that rotate a toothed sector and a compensator both rotating around the pivot of the circular sector. However, such design features are considered obvious features that are deemed an obvious matter of design choice and well within the ordinary skill in the art and it would have been further obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided such a structural design feature as claimed along with the features variously recited in the dependent claims, since applicant has not disclosed that such design features solve any stated problem and it appears that the invention would perform equally well. The remaining limitations would then have been obvious design choices only.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to the claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new grounds of rejection.
